

Lanteglos-by-Fowey Neighbourhood Plan

Local Landscape Character Assessment

During the Summer months presentations and exhibitions of the results of the LLCA were made at

- The Annual Parish Meeting
- Polruan Academy
- Whitecross Produce Market
- Polruan Church Fete
- Polruan Reading Room
- St Wyllow Church
- St Saviours Church
- St Johns Chapel at Ease

At each of these bound copies of the full assessments were available and at the bigger venues a full display of all the panels was mounted. Members of the community were invited to look at these and consider a series of questions and show on the large scale maps which particular places were of importance to them, recording this on a post-it. People were also asked to respond to an anonymous postcard question: Tell us what you would hate to lose from the Lanteglos Landscape

These are all the responses

- I thought the Character Assessment was very thorough. It brings into focus the fact that we really can't afford to lose anything from the Lanteglos Landscape
- The traditional rugged and natural beauty of the area together with its ecological heritage. Without these Cornwall and Lanteglos will be subsumed into a jungle of the built environment
- The rural nature and the peace
- Unspoilt cliffs - brilliant habitat for wild life. Historic churches and chapels (inc, in St John's & Mohun in Bodinnick)
- Old Ferry Inn - vital for life of Bodinnick
- Coastal path from Polruan to Polperro which is uninterrupted by views of development (housing, etc.)

- The wonderful views out to sea as you drive along the coast road to Polruan
- Anything - it's beautiful as it is
- Foxes
- Quiet places like here (Bodinnick). Peace and tranquillity away from the Maddening Crowd
- Everything - LOSE NOTHING
- The peace and quiet
- Natural beauty of undisturbed landscape with stable local community. Farming and holiday industry well integrated
- The remoteness and peacefulness of Lantic Bay
- The tranquil culture, peace and serenity. The lack of mind bending technology and crowds makes this place a piece of heaven on Earth
